ELIZABETH (LIZ) GRAMMAS, CPA

Tax Supervisor

Elizabeth (Liz) Grammas is a Tax Supervisor at Sansiveri, where she plays a key role in managing tax compliance and planning engagements. She first joined the firm as a tax intern in 2016, 2017, and 2018 before coming on full-time in 2020. With a strong work ethic and deep industry expertise, Liz specializes in private equity, construction, real estate, and high-net-worth individuals.

Beyond her client work, Liz takes on several leadership roles within the firm. As the Coordinator of Sansiveri's Intern Program, she oversees recruiting, hiring, training, and workflow management for the intern team. She also mentors new hires through the CPA Kickstart Program, helping them navigate the CPA exam process. Additionally, she's an active member of both the Marketing and Event Committees, further demonstrating her commitment to the firm's growth and culture.

Before returning to Sansiveri, Liz spent a year and a half at EY as a Tax Staff member accountant in their Financial Services Organization, focusing on private equity and hedge fund clients. Her experience in both public accounting and private industry gives her a well-rounded perspective when assisting clients with their tax needs.

A Rhode Island native, Liz was born and raised in Cranston, where she still lives. When she's not at work, Liz loves staying active, cooking, baking, and traveling to her favorite destinations—Aruba and Greece. She's also happily engaged to her fiancé, Nick, and is currently busy planning their wedding.

Education:
- University of Rhode Island – Bachelor of Science in Business Administration (Accounting), 2017
- Bryant University – Master of Professional Accountancy, 2018

Core Services:
- Tax Compliance & Planning
- Business Strategy

Specialties:
- Private Equity
- Construction & Real Estate
- High-Net-Worth Individuals
- Tax Preparation & Review

Affiliations:
- AICPA
- RISCPA
- Treasurer, Rhode Island Association of Accounting Professors (RIAAP)
- Adjunct Professor, CCRI