JAMES R. WALSH, CPA

Partner, Tax Department

James (Jim) Walsh is a Partner in the Tax Department at Sansiveri, Kimball & Co., LLP. With a career spanning more than three decades, he brings deep expertise in tax consulting and compliance, helping businesses and individuals navigate complex tax matters with confidence. Since joining Sansiveri in 2018, he has been a trusted advisor to clients across industries, including construction and real estate, manufacturing, distribution and retail, high-net-worth individuals, and professional service businesses.

Before becoming a part of the Sansiveri team, Jim spent over 20 years at another local CPA firm, honing his skills in tax strategy and compliance. A licensed CPA in Rhode Island, he remains actively involved in the accounting community as a member of the AICPA and RISCPA, where he serves on the Federal and State Tax Committee.

Originally from Cranston, Jim now calls Exeter home, where he lives with his wife, Sharon. He enjoys spending time with their daughter, Mackenzie, and their beloved granddog, Bowie. When he's not helping clients optimize their tax strategies, you'll likely find him on the golf course, out for a bike ride, or exploring hiking trails.
